Title: Seminar on Research Methodology -How to Select Research topics and writing a research paper.

Date-25-04-23

Venue-Central hall and Geography lab

Resource person- Professor Ashok Kumar (former V.C. Gorakhpur University).

Summary of Seminar

Selecting a research topic is a crucial step in the research process. The guest speaker explains some guidelines to help to choose a research topic effectively:

1. Choose a topic that genuinely interests you.
2. Conduct a literature review to identify gaps or unanswered questions in existing research. Your topic should contribute something new to the academic discourse.
3. Assess the feasibility of your chosen topic. Consider the availability of resources, time constraints, and ethical considerations.
4. Define the scope of your research. Ensure that the topic is neither too broad nor too narrow. A well-defined scope will help you focus your research efforts effectively.
5. Formulate a clear and specific research question. A well-defined question will guide your research and help maintain a sense of direction.

Remember that selecting a research topic is a dynamic process, and its okay to refine or modify your focus as you delve deeper into the literature and engage in the research itself
